

Expanding when viewing a sub

Posted by p2d - 2008/11/19 21:33

---

I would like the module to stay static and not firing everytime I click another submenu under the same parent. Is this possible?

=====

Re:Expanding when viewing a sub

Posted by SimpleByDesign - 2008/11/22 09:00

---

Hi,

Not too sure how you mean, the menu will stay expand the parent item when a submenu item page is loaded. So for example:

Menu 1
Menu 2
- Sub menu 1
- Sub menu 2
Menu 3

Clicking on Sub menu 2 will expand Menu 2 upon load. The menu however will always reload on each page unless your site is designed using so that only the content is loaded and not the whole page.

=====

Re:Expanding when viewing a sub

Posted by p2d - 2008/11/22 10:10

---

SimpleByDesign wrote:

Hi,

Not too sure how you mean, the menu will stay expand the parent item when a submenu item page is loaded. So for example:

Menu 1
Menu 2
- Sub menu 1
- Sub menu 2
Menu 3

Clicking on Sub menu 2 will expand Menu 2 upon load. The menu however will always reload on each page unless your site is designed using so that only the content is loaded and not the whole page.

Hello!

What I mean is that if I for example is viewing Sub menu 1 and then click Sub menu 2 the menu will still remain expanded as your saying, but it fires upon the refresh of the page. I would like the module to sense that I'm already is viewing a child under the Menu 2 parent, then it should not be necessary to fire upon every page load.

=====

Re:Expanding when viewing a sub

Posted by SimpleByDesign - 2008/11/22 10:28

---

Hi,

Unfortunately the way the current menu works this is not possible. A javascript call is required after the menu is drawn to open the correct top level menu - basically emulating the mouse over effect on page load. It may be possible to alter the menu to draw itself open rather than draw closed and then expand...but currently this not done.

Hope this answers your question.

Many thanks

=====

Re:Expanding when viewing a sub

Posted by rhlb10 - 2009/03/24 09:39

---

Hello and thanx for a great extension.

Is there any news regarding this feature? I think the menu runs smooth and all, but when you click a submenu item and changes page, the menu folds out (again) upon loading...

=====

Re:Expanding when viewing a sub

Posted by drecute - 2009/04/14 11:18

---

Hi. Hi, I'm using a custom template and I'm trying to use this accordion on my homepage. After I added the accordion I only get a link, but i dont want the accordion to link to any web page. I just want it to toggle (like expand and collapse) when clicked upon. As in I just want one, not many.

I have my module setup like this and i have positioned the accordion to "ebanking" since that's what i named the module.

Also if i want contents inside the accordion how to I go about it. Please I need help. Thanks

=====